

Not Too Short

Surely the arm of the LORD is not too short to save . . .

– Isaiah 59:1 (NIV)

After a long bus ride, I felt weak and exhausted. I was expected to preach my first sermon within an hour. As the bus halted on the final destination I saw a group of volunteers waiting. I looked through the window again and my eyes were caught up with the sight of a young girl. I remembered she was in an evangelistic camp I ministered two years ago. How could I have forgotten her? In that camp, she caused a lot of trouble to the leaders with her misbehavior. She dominated every bible study discussions I led. In fact, many a time I deliberately ignored her. I knew that She had left that camp without any change. Stepping out of the bus, as I began shaking hands with the volunteers, I suddenly felt that she was different. She was gentle and quiet. When I stood before her, she smiled and gently spoke, “Sir, I hope you remember me. I am the same girl who disturbed your Bible classes two years ago, but the Lord has changed my life. Thank you for all you taught me.” Later I learned that she became Christian two months after that camp. And now she was a youth leader.

Pray: Almighty God! Give me more love and patience that I may not easily give up.

Thought for the Day

Christian who depends on God attempts for the possibility in God.
